Gov. Warren E. Hearnes said today "inadequate support for state programs will not stop the state's growth, but it will result in a slowdown.
"It will bring harmful results to individual citizens and the economy of the state.

Hearnes expressed his regret over Tuesday's failure of the referendum on the income tax revision in a speech prepared for the opening session of the 12th annual Industrial Development Conference.

Despite the defeat of the income tax measure, he said, we do have a strong potential

"During the campaign for the income tax reform law, I never talked in terms of Missouri withering and dying. The warning which I issued was in terms of the amount of damage we would suffer in vital state programs—the degree to which we would fall short in meeting our state's real needs."

Besides the sharp reduction in progress in education, mental health and welfare, he said, the revenue pinch also will be felt in the Division of Commerce and Industrial Development.

While other states are budgeting money for industrial research and advertising, he said, his budget for the coming year will eliminate any money either one.

"Missouri will not stop growing," Hearnes said. "But we will reduce our efforts in a field which is extremely competitive. We will be operating at a disadvantage in the task of attracting new industries to Missouri."

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

You can be sure reputation is a large bubble which bursts when you try to blow it up yourself.

THE SOUR NOTE

It is possible that a skilled musician, in a long evenings performance, may produce one single, glaring, sour note. Although the rest of the program may be flawless, that one sour note stands out and is remembered.

This thought came to us as we were recalling that during the Easter season, we were privileged to read and hear some truly inspiring messages. But then along came one editorial from one Washington, D.C. newspaper, and grawamph! - some anonymous writer had to come along with a raucously sour note.

The editorial had to do with the Christian practice of breaking bread. Beautiful! Then appeared these words: "...it is today the Christian nations - Europe and North America especially but also Russia, for it too is Christian in origin- with the capacity to feed much of the world and to teach all of it to feed itself."

Why is it, we wondered, that it should be necessary for us to stop and point out that under no circumstances can the Soviet Union be considered "Christian in origin" either in theory or in practice? There is absolutely nothing to be found anywhere in the rules, regulations, laws or procedures in the Soviet empire even remotely connected with the teachings of Christianity. Indeed, because of the violent anti- Christian policies of Communism, all that remains today of Christianity or any other religion behind the Iron Curtain is a tiny remnant, which, in spite of "fire, dungeon and sword," has managed to cling to faith and belief in God. John Noble, Reverend Richard Wurmbrand and many others have testified that the faith of our fathers indeed exists in the Soviet Union; not in the seats of power, not in the Communist government, but in the slave labor and concentration camps and secretly among the citizens.

Hence, the power to establish policy of food production and distribution (including the breaking of bread, or sharing) does not rest with the hapless victims of Communism; that policy is determined by the Soviet dictatorship, which is anything but Christian.

The only thing the Soviet Union has to "teach the world," after fifty years of Marxist-Leninist tyranny, is that the honest. Communist, anti- Christian system has yet to provide for either the human needs or the human rights of the

UNHAPPY RETURNS

"April is the cruelest month," wrote T. S. Eliot. And the 77 million Americans who must file individual income tax returns by April 15 would hasten to agree with the poet. This year, taxpayers are faced with another woe-- the most complex and frustrating new tax form in recent history.

From all over the country, complaints about the new multi- colored, multi- paged form -1040 return are heard. Some report they cannot follow the instructions for the longer forms that went into effect this year. Older people find it difficult to understand the special provisions aimed at saving them money. Taxpayers are flocking to lawyers and accountants in record numbers.

Even tax officials are finding some merit in the torrents of complaints. Speaking before a group of tax experts recently, Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, doubted whether many of the assembled authorities could readily calculate the taxable portion of a pension received by the widow of a worker who had been under a contributory pension system. "And I would include myself among them," he

Paradoxically, the confusion results from an attempt to help the taxpayer. Internal Revenue Service officials say they dispensed with the familiar short 1040A punchcard form because taxpayers were inadevertently cheating themselves out of legitimate deductions. There was no room on the short forms for these items.

Although the complicated forms are described as intimidatingly awkward to handle and fill out, IRS officials maintain there is no slow-down in the receipt of returns. Despite the mail strike, a spokesman told Editorial Research Reports that about 41.5 million returns had been received by March 27 - which was a slightly higher percentage than received by the same time

First attention is being given to returns that require a refund. So far, about 26 million refund checks totaling $6.3 billion have been put in the mail. The average pay back is $240 - as compared to $198 last year. There is that portion of their income taxes that goes to pay for the Purpose:

Past April shearings indicate that Americans are either the world's most honest taxpayers or its most ingenious chiselers. Only 561 persons were found guilty of tax fraud during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1969. Thousands of others gave themselves the benefit of the doubt on their returns-- but later paid up fully, if not cheerfully. Random audits and the implacable whirring of Denr the Martinsburg Monster-- the IRS computer that passes on each return - are credited with keeping most players

Meanwhile, taxpayers will continue to bite their erasers in frustration. They can console themselves with the fact that 1971 is liable to be even worse. Then the changes embodied in last year's tax reform law will be on the returns. Significantly, wags dubbed that measure the "Lawyers and Accountants Relief Act of 1969."

Ready or not...

Here they come!

All it takes is a few warm days and dandelions start popping up everywhere. Your best bet is to be ready with Scotts TURF BUILDER PLUS-2. Put it on when dandelions start to bloom. It penetrates deep down into the roots and that's the only way to take care of dandelions. Digging or pulling won't help-their roots grow so deep, they'll just grow back again. PLUS-2 also clears out a couple dozen other non-grass weeds. It even fertilizes at the same time, so good grass can take over where the weeds once were. This year be ready for dandelions. Pick up your PLUS-2 now, while it's on sale.

WASHINGTON (NEA)

The Nixon administration has no intention of involving the United States in any big way in the main Laotian war in that country's northern and Mekong river border sectors. There are things about our present involvement which the President has not disclosed and will not disclose.

But anyone who inquires in knowledgeable quarters, as I have done, can gain persuasive assurance that the "secret" things we are doing in Laos are not of a high order of magnitude. In other words, we are not engaged in some massive war enterprise that is unknown to the U.S. public.

Those senators and others who are responsibly voicing concern over Laos are respected here for reasonable vigilance aimed at avoiding the kind of drift that led us into heavy engagement in Vietnam.

There are other senators, however, who are viewed in some key circles as, variously, grossly ignorant, politically motivated, or irresponsible in their comments on Laos—sometimes to the point of downright dishonesty.

Obviously the President is not going to alter his policy of partial secrecy to please either the responsibles or the ir-

In a quite limited way, we are committed to helping the resent rightist-neutralist Laotian government under Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma save important portions of Laos from Communist hands. The Reds already hold roughly two-thirds of Laotian soil.

We will not tell them or the world all we are doing, nor announce for their edification what else we might do in certain eventualities which have not yet arisen.

It can be said with some authority, nevertheless, that we would not necessarily take alarm if the North Vietnamese regulars in Laos move beyond the most westerly forward line the Communists have generally stopped at in the see saw battling over the last several years.

Our government's goal, as stated privately and publicly, is to help keep vital portions of "government" Laos con-tinuously free, both for its own sake and as a buffer against Red inroads into big Thailand.

We keep hoping that Hanoi does not want all of Laos (it could be a huge headache) but also sees its presently held Laotian soil as a buffer protecting North Vietnam.

Not the least of these is to divert attention from its current low military pace in South Vietnam, where some highn believe the Reds are hurting and do not want to do anything big until our ground combat troop withdrawals have gone much further and Hanoi can attack again at lesser cost than in 1968-69.

A second major Hanoi objective perceived here is to stir

Suggested Second Uses For Frozen Juice Cans

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY and Joann—Save those orange juice cans to make drums to decorate your own Christmas tree or for your church or club holiday bazaar. Cut the can down to about two inches in height. Glue the cover on with white, all-purpose glue. Paint the metal edges with gold paint. When paint is dry, cover the sides with red velvet. Glue 1/2 inch white velvet ribbon around the top and bottom. Use small, pearl beads fastened on with pins—seven above and seven below the white ribbon—about one inch apart. Wind tiny gold cord around each bead, going from top to bottom have a cord around them. Leave a loop at the end to hang it by. Glue a circle of white felt over each end of the can.

—MABLE

DEAR POLLY—Orange juice cans with plastic tops are great for holding matches when camping and holding the small amount of shortening or peanut butter which you might wish to take along. I also keep turpentine in one when painting. The lid may be put on to keep the odor from spreading throughout the house.—SIDNA

DEAR POLLY-Tell Joann not to throw away those frozen orange juice cans. They make wonderful, big, hair curlers when both ends of the can are cut. Secure them with bobby pins.-LINDA

DEAR POLLY-If Joann does not use all her frozen orange juice cans with plastic lids, I suggest she give them to the nearest Cub Scout den mother. They can be wrapped with pretty, adhesive-backed paer to make pen and pencil holders. Painted and with two small holes in the bottom, with the lid used as a tray, they are pretty little pots for small plants. Painted or wrapped, with one small hole punched in the plastic lid, they make great string, ribbon or yarn holders. Being a den mother myself, I always welcome such gifts as cans.-GAYLE than modernization of the South Vietnamese armed forces to permit their continuing a sumption of more military responsibili. Vietnamization means the progressive transfer to the South Vietnamese of responsibility for all aspects of the war and management of their affairs: stronger government, stronger economy, stronger military forces, stronger police for internal security. This apparently is not generally understood. Too many people refer to Vietnamization only in terms of an increased combat role for the armed forces of South Vietnam.

for

Our redeployments thus far have been based primarily on progress in the military aspects of the Vietnamization program. We hope that the momentum we have achieved far in the military portions of Vietnamization will be on sled with additional progress on the other important

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

You can be sure reputation is a large bubble which bursts when you try to blow it up yourself.

THE SOUR NOTE

It is possible that a skilled musician, in a long evenings performance, may produce one single, glaring, sour note. Although the rest of the program may be flawless, that one sour note stands out and is remembered.

This thought came to us as we were recalling that during the Easter season, we were privileged to read and hear some truly inspiring messages. But then along came one editorial from one Washington, D.C. newspaper, and grawamph! - some anonymous writer had to come along with a raucously sour note.

The editorial had to do with the Christian practice of breaking bread. Beautiful! Then appeared these words: "...it is today the Christian nations - Europe and North America especially but also Russia, for it too is Christian in origin- with the capacity to feed much of the world and to teach all of it to feed itself."

Why is it, we wondered, that it should be necessary for us to stop and point out that under no circumstances can the Soviet Union be considered "Christian in origin" either in theory or in practice? There is absolutely nothing to be found anywhere in the rules, regulations, laws or procedures in the Soviet empire even remotely connected with the teachings of Christianity. Indeed, because of the violent anti- Christian policies of Communism, all that remains today of Christianity or any other religion behind the Iron Curtain is a tiny remnant, which, in spite of "fire, dungeon and sword," has managed to cling to faith and belief in God. John Noble, Reverend Richard Wurmbrand and many others have testified that the faith of our fathers indeed exists in the Soviet Union; not in the seats of power, not in the Communist government, but in the slave labor and concentration camps and secretly among the citizens.

Hence, the power to establish policy of food production and distribution (including the breaking of bread, or sharing) does not rest with the hapless victims of Communism; that policy is determined by the Soviet dictatorship, which is anything but Christian.

The only thing the Soviet Union has to "teach the world," after fifty years of Marxist- Leninist tyranny, is that the honest. Communist, anti- Christian system has yet to provide for either the human needs or the human rights of the

"April is the cruelest month," wrote T. S. Eliot. And the 77 million Americans who must file individual income tax returns by April 15 would hasten to agree with the poet. This year, taxpayers are faced with another woe-- the most complex and frustrating new tax form in recent history.

From all over the country, complaints about the new multi- colored, multi- paged form -1040 return are heard. Some report they cannot follow the instructions for the longer forms that went into effect this year. Older people find it difficult to understand the special provisions aimed at saving them money. Taxpayers are flocking to lawyers and accountants in record numbers.

Even tax officials are finding some merit in the torrents of complaints. Speaking before a group of tax experts recently, Edwin S. Cohen, assistant secretary of the Treasury for tax policy, doubted whether many of the assembled authorities could readily calculate the taxable portion of a pension received by the widow of a worker who had been under a contributory pension system. "And I would include myself among them," he

Paradoxically, the confusion results from an attempt to help the taxpayer. Internal Revenue Service officials say they dispensed with the familiar short 1040A punchcard form because taxpayers were inadevertently cheating themselves out of legitimate deductions. There was no room on the short forms for these items.

Although the complicated forms are described as intimidatingly awkward to handle and fill out, IRS officials maintain there is no slow-down in the receipt of returns. Despite the mail strike, a spokesman told Editorial Research Reports that about 41.5 million returns had been received by March 27 - which was a slightly higher percentage than received by the same time last year.

First attention is being given to returns that require a refund. So far, about 26 million refund checks totaling $6.3 billion have been put in the mail. The average pay back is $240 - as compared to $198 last year. There is organized tax resistance tied to anti- Viet Nam demonstrations set for April 15. But the IRS reports that only a handful of taxpayers appear to be refusing to pay FESTIVAL. Apr. 10-19. that portion of their income taxes that goes to pay for the Purpose: "To further enhance

Ready or not...

Here they come!

All it takes is a few warm days and dandebet is to be ready with Scotts TURF BUILDER PLUS-2. Put it on when dandelions start to bloom. It penetrates deep down into the roots, and that's the only way to take care of dandelions. Digging or pulling won't help-their roots grow so deep, they'll just grow back again. PLUS-2 also clears out a couple dozen other non-grass weeds. It even fertilizes at the same time, so good grass can take over where the weeds once were. This year be ready for dandelions. By BRUCE BIOSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) The Nixon administration has no intention of involving the United States in any big way in the main Laotian war in that country's northern and Mekong river border sectors. There are things about our present involvement which the President has not disclosed and will not disclose. But anyone who inquires in knowledgeable quarters, as I have done, can gain persuasive assurance that the "secret" things we are doing in Laos are not of a high order of magnitude. In other words, we are not engaged in some massive war enterprise that is unknown to the U.S. public.

Those senators and others who are responsibly voicing concern over Laos are respected here for reasonable vigilance aimed at avoiding the kind of drift that led us into heavy engagement in Vietnam.

There are other senators, however, who are viewed in some key circles as, variously, grossly ignorant, politically motivated, or irresponsible in their comments on Laos—sometimes to the point of downright dishonesty.

Obviously the President is not going to alter his policy of partial secrecy to please either the responsibles or the ir-

In a quite limited way, we are committed to helping the present rightist-neutralist Laotian government under Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma save important portions of Laos from Communist hands. The Reds already hold roughly two-thirds of Laotian soil.

We will not tell them or the world all we are doing, nor announce for their edification what else we might do in certain eventualities which have not yet arisen.

It can be said with some authority, nevertheless, that we would not necessarily take alarm if the North Vietnamese regulars in Laos move beyond the most westerly forward line the Communists have generally stopped at in the seesaw battling over the last several years.

Our government's goal, as stated privately and publicly, is to help keep vital portions of "government" Laos continuously free, both for its own sake and as a buffer against Red inroads into big Thailand.

We keep hoping that Hanoi does not want all of Laos (it could be a huge headache) but also sees its presently held Laotian soil as a buffer protecting North Vietnam.

Not the least of these is to divert attention from its cur rent low military pace in South Vietnam, where some highly responsible men believe the Reds are hurting and do not want to do anything big until our ground combat troop withdrawals have gone much further and Hanoi can attack again at lesser cost than in 1968-69.

A second major Hanoi objective perceived here is to stir the Laotian pot to arouse a new ferment of antiwar opinion

POLLY'S POINTERS

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY and Joann-Save those orange juice cans to make drums to decorate your own Christmas tree or for your church or club holiday bazaar. Cut the can down to out two inches in height. Glue the cover on with white, all-purpose glue. Paint the metal edges with gold paint. When paint is dry, cover the sides with red velvet. Glue ½-inch white velvet ribbon around the top and bottom. Use small, pearl beads fastened on with pins—seven above and seven below the white ribbon—about one inch apart. Wind tiny gold cord around each bead, going from top to bottom and then to the top like the cords on a drum until all beads have a cord around them. Leave a loop at the end to hang Glue a circle of white felt over each end of the can.

DEAR POLLY—Orange juice cans with plastic tops are great for holding matches when camping and holding the small amount of shortening or peanut butter which you might wish to take along. I also keep turpentine in one when painting. The lid may be put on to keep the odor from spreading throughout the house.—SIDNA

DEAR POLLY-Tell Joann not to throw away those frozen orange juice cans. They make wonderful, big, hair curlers when both ends of the can are cut. Secure them with bobby pins .- LINDA

DEAR POLLY-If Joann does not use all her frozen orange juice cans with plastic lids, I suggest she give them to the nearest Cub Scout den mother. They can be wrapped with pretty, adhesive-backed paper to make pen and pencil holders. Painted and with two small holes in the bottom, with the lid used as a they are pretty little for small plants.

Painted or wrapped, with one small hole punched in the plastic lid, they make great string, ribbon or yarn holders. Being a den mother myself, I always welcome such gifts as cans.-GAYLE

Money Feeding Steers

April 9, 1920
Ranney Applegate had three car loads of steers on the market at the National Stock Yards, Ill., Monday and received $11.75 for them. He had fed them 100 days and estimates his loss on them at about $10 a day. He isn't the only farmer in this section who lost money feeding cattle the past winter.
